STATEMENT FROM CONGRESSWOMAN SEWELL APPLAUD COMMERCE DEPARTMENT DECISION TO IMPOSE DUTIES ON ILLEGAL STEEL IMPORTS

Today, Congresswoman Terri A. Sewell released the following statement on the Department of Commerce's announcement to apply antidumping duties on Oil Country Tubular Goods (OCTG) from South Korea. Last month, Congresswoman Sewell joined more than 155 Members of Congress in sending a letter to Commerce Secretary Penny Pritzker urging her to reverse a February 2014 decision that would have allowed South Korean producers to avoid antidumping duties. On June 16, Congresswoman Sewell stood with more than 2,200 employees at U.S. Steel Corporation in Fairfield, Alabama to protest against the illegal dumping of foreign imports.

“Today, the Department of Commerce sent a clear message to foreign countries that unfair trade practices that undermine American steelworkers and OCTG producers will not be tolerated in the U.S. market. For too long, American steel jobs have been undercut by lax trade policies that allow foreign countries to illegally dump steel into the U.S. market,” explained Rep. Sewell. “The entire American economy loses when our Steel Companies are forced to shut their doors because they’ve been cheated by foreign importers. This is why I am pleased that the Department of Commerce is standing up to this gamesmanship by allowing the case to advance to the International Trade Commission (ITC) hearing on July 15. I hope the ITC will also conclude that the American OCTG industry is being wrongfully threatened due to the illegal dumping of foreign imports and will ultimately put an end to this illegal practice, once and for all.”

CONGRESSWOMAN SEWELL'S STATEMENT ON THE 50TH ANNIVERSARY OF THE CIVIL RIGHTS ACT OF 1964

Washington, DC – Today, Congresswoman Terri A. Sewell (AL-07) released the following statement on the 50th Anniversary of the Civil Rights Act of 1964:

“Fifty years ago today, President Lyndon B. Johnson signed the Civil Rights Act of 1964 into law as a premier cornerstone of the Great Society. This monumental piece of legislation ultimately dismantled the structures of legal segregation so that America could live up to its founding principles. Today we know that this legislation is as fundamental to our democracy as the Constitution and the Bill of Rights.

We know, however, that passage of the Civil Rights Act of 1964 didn't come without a price. Today we honor the men and women who helped make its passage a reality. We celebrate the countless unheralded Americans who challenged injustice and built the movement that served as the catalyst for legislative change. We have lived out the legacy of their sacrifices and have enjoyed new doors of opportunity as a result of their efforts. Our future is ever reliant on our efforts to fully vindicate their vision.

Although the Civil Rights Act of 1964 represented tremendous progress, the violence in Selma on the Edmund Pettus Bridge in March 1965 highlighted the need for stronger legislative action by Congress. Just as the tragic loss of the Four Little Girls in Birmingham on September 15, 1963 burned in President Johnson's mind as he signed the Civil Rights Act of 1964, the events in Selma compelled him to introduce the Voting Rights Act of 1965. This is why we must remain committed to fully addressing the Supreme Court's ruling in Shelby County v. Holder by passing an improved and strengthened Voting Rights Act. I will continue to work within the bipartisan efforts being taken by the House and Senate Judiciary Committees to strengthen this foundational legislation.”

The Rick Rescorla National Award for Resilience

The Rick Rescorla National Award for Resilience is the Department of Homeland Security's (DHS) first national resilience award for superior leadership and innovation by a non-governmental individual or organization who exemplifies the qualities and achievements of Rick Rescorla, emphasizing leadership in effective preparation, response, and recovery in the face of disasters.

Rescorla served as Vice President of Security for Morgan Stanley at their Headquarters in the World Trade Center. Following the 1993 terrorist attacks on the World Trade Center, Rescorla regularly drilled his Morgan Stanley employees in disaster preparedness and response, especially evacuation. On 9/11, Rescorla led a massive evacuation of Morgan Stanley's 2,700-person workforce located in the South Tower, saving the lives of all but six. His commitment to preparedness ensured that the 2,700 Morgan Stanley employees who worked in the South Tower knew how to evacuate and where to go on 9/11.

Eligibility and Criteria

To be eligible for the 2014 award, the nominee must be:

- An individual, residing legally in the United States or its territories, who is not an employee of a governmental entity – including federal, state, local, tribal or territorial governments. Volunteer first responders are eligible. This includes firefighters, emergency medical providers, and law enforcement personnel who serve on a volunteer basis.
- An organization, other than a governmental entity, based in the United States or its territories. In 2014, there will be two separate award categories for organizations, one for “for-profit organizations” and one for “not-for-profit organizations.”

The criteria for the Rescorla Award emphasize leadership and achievement in one or more of the following areas:

- Outstanding performance during 2013 in withstanding, adapting to, and rapidly recovering from natural or human caused incidents that impact lives or property, including:
 - Demonstrable success in saving lives, protecting property and the environment, or meeting basic human needs because of outstanding prior preparation and/or extraordinary efforts during or after incidents.
 - Outstanding leadership in assisting individuals, families, organizations and/or communities in response or recovery from natural or human-caused incidents.
- Outstanding performance during 2013 in developing resilience in anticipation of future incidents threatening life or property, including:
 - Motivating and assisting individuals (including those with special needs), families, organizations, and/or communities to take steps that effectively achieve resilience, for example, developing personal and community preparedness plans and organizing communities so as to promote the rapid recovery of essential services.
 - Implementing regular training and exercises that test the resilience of individuals, families, organizations and/or communities.
 - Implementing private sector preparedness, for example, developing plans for business continuity and the adoption of cyber security consensus standards and industry best practices to the fullest extent possible.

- Exceeding existing building and other codes in the design and construction of infrastructure, including homes, office buildings, and highway bridges and tunnels.

- Single search for both public and private sector positions
- Military skills translator and resume generator
- Social media integration with popular bookmarking sites for saving job postings

Employer Resources:

- Access targeted feed of qualified resumes from Veteran applicants
- View reverse skills translation (military to civilian skills) for applicants
- Set Veterans hiring goals and track progress
- Connect to resources designed to help recruit and retain talented, Veteran employees

In connection with the First Lady and Dr. Biden's Joining Forces initiative, the Department of Veterans Affairs worked with the Departments of Defense, Labor, and Education, and the Office of Personnel Management to design and develop the site and incorporate features of existing online employment tools at each agency. The result is an upgrade to the existing Veterans Job Bank and an integrated solution connecting Veterans, transitioning Service Members and employers.

Employers, Veterans and transitioning Service Members deserve a single, authoritative source for connecting to each other. Now that the core tools and an integrated search function exist in one single location, each agency is engaged in minimizing duplication and redundancy of current sites and services.
